UK GAMES JOBS SUMMARY DECEMBER 2022

Welcome to the December 2022 jobs report. This month in the UK Games Industry, another steep drop of almost 200 roles compared to last month, continuing the worrying trend of the past few months.

In the last 6 months, over 700 open positions have now been taken off the market since the peak of 2,186 jobs in June. Additionally, increased investment for games companies has been made available elsewhere across Europe, perhaps likely to put further pressure on UK jobs.

If your organisation would like access to the full version of this report with detailed insights into the UK Games Industry job market, and the definitive statistics, please contact colin@gamesjobs.live

Most of the major hubs have far fewer open positions, with the exception of two cities in the same region.

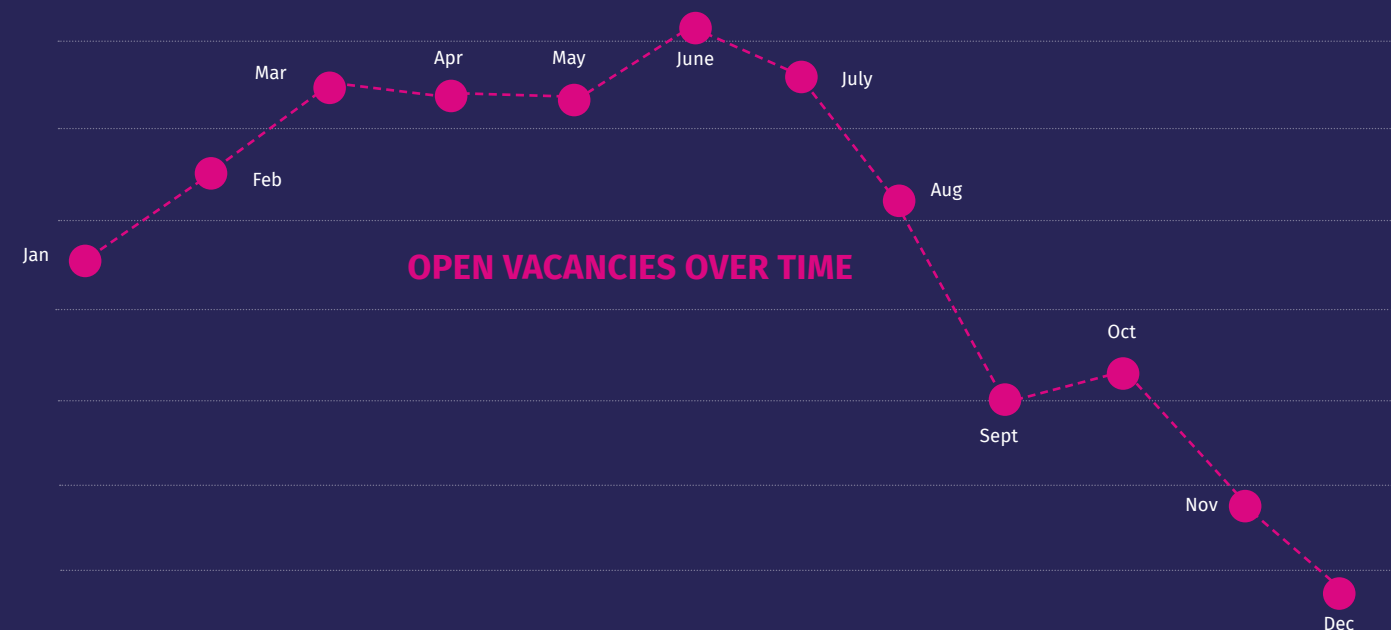

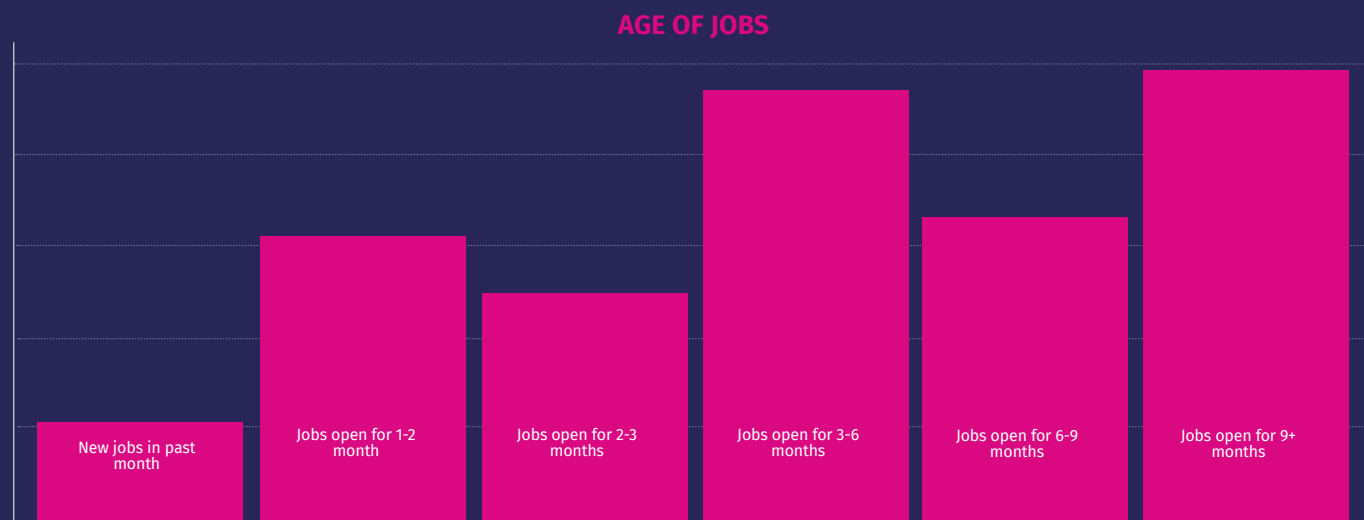

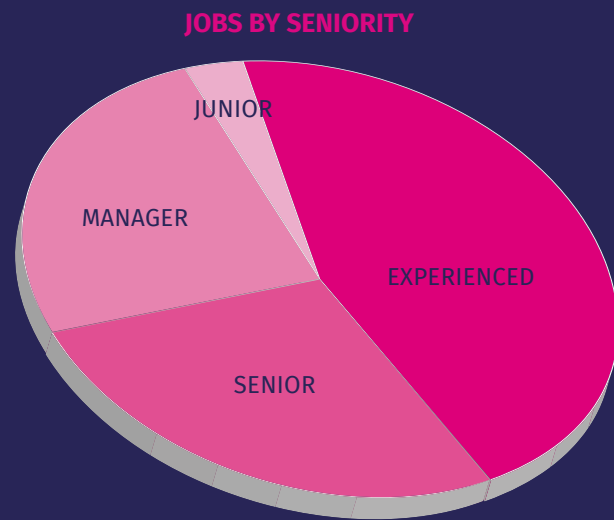

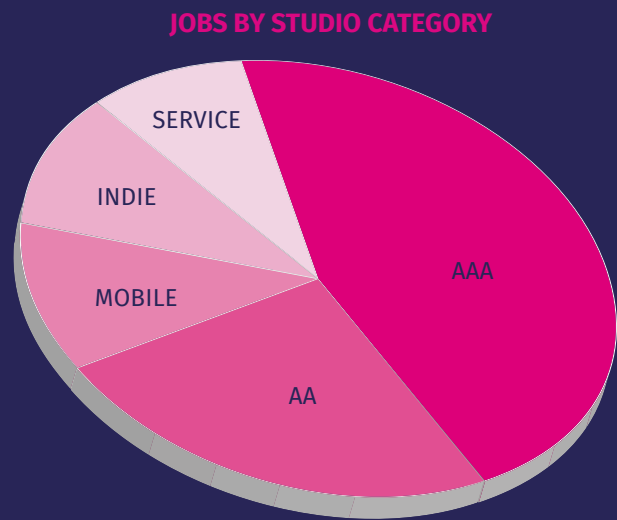

There are fewer job postings available in most disciplines, with a couple of notable exceptions.

INSIGHTS

One sector of the industry has significantly reduced their advertised job postings, following layoffs in the sector internationally. Only one sector did not reduce their available roles.

One region was able to buck the trend and significantly increase the number of available jobs, with two other regions remaining stable as well. The number of Junior roles have plummeted, while Manager level roles have remained relatively plentiful,
